Adoption

I agree to the following terms and conditions as regards the cat or cats (listed below) that I am adopting from Nevada Humane Society:

- The cat is being adopted as a barn cat to live at the address indicated above.
- Everyone with access to the barn (or other area where the cat will reside) knows about (or will be informed about) the presence of this cat and agrees to accept this cat into the area.
- The cat will be kept confined in a sturdy (predator proof) large cage in a safe area protected from the elements at the location where he is to be released for at least two weeks (if possible for three weeks) before being released. The cat will need a litter box during this time.
- The cat will be provided with wholesome food and water on a daily basis and access to a dry shelter space: a shed, barn or cat house that the cat can access at all times without needing to be let in our out by a person.
- If at any point I cannot keep this cat as a barn cat I will notify Nevada Humane Society immediately.

I understand that the cat is not to be turned over to an animal control facility or other organization without obtaining Nevada Humane Society's advance permission for the specific arrangement.

Nevada Humane Society agrees to accept the cat back at any time.

- I will trap the cat and provide veterinary care for any observable illness or injury.
- I will allow an Nevada Humane Society representative to visit the location to ensure that this agreement is being upheld.
